COURT ROCKINGHAM OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

The Foresters of America Had a Good Celebration on Tuesday Night

Court Rockingham, No. 6, Foresters of America, departed from their usual custom of conducting a ball following the Lenten season, and on Tuesday evening celebrated the twenty-second anniversary of the order by a social, smoker and banquet.

The rooms of the organization on Market street were crowded on the occasion and the members took great interest in the entire program of the evening.

P. J. Kennedy of Exeter, a member of Court Wheelwright of that town and a member of the board of supreme trustees, spoke on "Forestry," and W. A. A. Cullen of the local court, and also a trustee of the grand lodge, gave an address touching on the progress of the order throughout the state.

Following the addresses of the grand officers, the other features of the program were brought out in song by Thomas Pulliam, and P. J. McCabe, dancing by Timothy Quill, recitation by M. P. Morrissey. Other members of the court added to the bill and helped to make the affair a most enjoyable one from beginning to end.

Frank Leary was the caterer and furnished a most excellent menu of salads, ice cream, cake and coffee.

The arrangements for the celebration were in charge of Frank P. Clair, John Leary and Timothy Connors.

The officers of the court for the year are:

Past Chief Ranger, William W. Ballard.

Chief Ranger, Frank P. Clair.

Sub Chief Ranger, Timothy Connors.

Financial Secretary, John Leary.

Recording secretary, Thomas Moran.

Treasurer, John E. Meegan.

Senior Woodward, James Pulliam.

Junior Woodward, Michael Duley.

Senior Beadle, Joseph Gorman.

Junior Beadle, Timothy Quill.

THAT TELEPHONE SUIT

Samuel W. Emery, Esq., is the counsel for the plaintiff in the suit of the National Telephone Manufacturing company of Portsmouth against the American Bell Telephone company to recover $500,000 for alleged malicious prosecution was on trial before Judge Hale and a jury in the United States circuit court at Boston on Tuesday.

The plaintiff claims that the defendant without probable cause brought a bill in equity against it in 1895 charging it with infringement of the Berliner patent on a telephone transmitter. The suit was dismissed. The defendant denies plaintiff's allegations and claims it is not liable. The suit is unfinished.

The plaintiff company was organized in this city and its stock is understood to be mostly held outside of New Hampshire.

The Cribbage Scores at the Yacht Club

The Kittery Point Firemen Held an Interesting Drill

Kittery, Me., March 30.

Kittery correspondent's telephone 297-5.

Mrs. Mary S. Wilcox and son George O. Wilson of Wentworth street, are visiting relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Granville O. Berry has resumed his duties as American Express agent between Portsmouth and Boston after being temporarily in charge of the office at Somersworth.

The rather unusual spectacle of three ocean tugs, all without tugs, entering the harbor in close succession, was noticed Tuesday afternoon. They were the Mars, Cumberland and Ne-masket.

M. E. Downing of Boston, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Walter Pettigrew.

Frank Moore is visiting in Swampscott, Mass.

Master Hollis Mason is ill with the measles.

In response to an inquiry by the Kittery Point fire department as to whether assistance from the navy yard could be given in case of a big blaze, the commandant has replied that until the new bridge to the yard has been completed, no aid may be looked for in that quarter, as the fire engines are considered too heavy to pass over the old bridge in its present condition.

The winners in Tuesday evening's sitting of the cribbage tournament at the Kittery Yacht club were Daniel W. Marden first prize, Fred J. P. Chase second and Herbert G. Elkins third.

George H. Marden continues on the sick list.

Miss Alice Coes of Kittery Point is the guest of Miss Mae Meloon of Newmarket street.

Mrs. Marion Philbrick of Williams Avenue is confined to her home by illness.

Blowing is going on merrily through the summer-like weather.

A regular meeting of Whipple lodge of Good Templars will be held this evening.

A regular meeting of the Eastern Star will be held this evening in Odd Fellows' Hall.

This evening in the vestry of the Second Christian church occurs the benefit entertainment under the direction of Miss Elsie Langton. The best of talent will participate.

The March almost past has been one of the most remarkable an record as far as this locality is concerned.

Miss Gladys Manning of North Kittery is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Walter Lutz.

Death of Mrs. Locke

Mrs. Arlie A. Locke died this morning at the home of her daughter Mrs. William Barrett, on Newmarket street, aged sixty-three years, four months and two days. The remains will be taken to Manchester on Thursday for the funeral and interment.

Kittery Point

Kittery Point correspondent's telephone 297-5.

Samuel Blake is painting the house of Granville O. Berry.

The Kittery Point fire company held a fire drill at six o'clock Tuesday evening with highly gratifying results. Fifteen minutes after the alarm from "Box 34" blew in, wholly unexpected, the boys had their apparatus over the half mile from the fire hose to Hutchins corner and a stream going in fine style. A sense of security may well possess property owners at the knowledge of such ample protection.

Master Norman Mattison has returned from a visit to his mother in Boston.

Captain Charles C. Sawyer is on the sick list.

Rev. J. H. Mugridge has returned to his home in Stratham, N. H., after a sojourn in town.

Noah E. Emery has purchased a horse.

Master Lester Keene son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Keene, is ill.

A shed has been built in the rear of the house of Rev. John H. Mugridge, on Foye's Lane, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Winfield L. Tobey.

Singing school will be in session at the Free Baptist church Thursday afternoon.

Miss Eloise Whittier of Portsmouth is the guest of Miss Mildred F. Coes today.

Miss Ethel M. Mitchell returned today to her studies at Wellesley after passing the Easter vacation with her parents, Hon. and Mrs. Horace Mitchell. When Miss Mitchell next returns it will be as a "sweet girl graduate," for she completes her course of studies there in June.

Messrs. Adams and Ball of Boston are visiting at Mrs. Martha Clark son's.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Christian church met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Winfield Tobey of Foye's lane.

N. Ellery Emery has returned from a visit with friends in Malden.

Stephen Denatur passed Monday in Boston on business.

Harold Getchell of South Berwick was the guest of his brother, Frank E. Getchell, this week.

The S. V. Fancywork club meets with Mrs. Henry A. Marden on Thursday evening.

The F. D. Whist club meets this afternoon with Mrs. Frank Getchell.

The schooner Lewis H. Goward which has arrived at Bermuda and reported the loss of her captain, Henry Haynes, during a storm, has made many trips here in charge of the unfortunate skipper.

The open cars will soon be in evidence on the local road.

ALMOST A DROWNING

Man Fell from Noble's Island Bridge to Water This Afternoon

A strange man, much under the influence of liquor, fell into the river from the railroad bridge at Noble's Island this afternoon. His bath seemed to sober him somewhat and he had sense enough to keep afloat, until help arrived from the coal docks. He was brought to the police station by Officer West and given a change of clothing.

BOWERS FOR SUPREME COURT

Washington, March 30.—Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor general of the department of justice, is the practically unanimous expectation of Washington today as successor of the late Justice David J. Brewer of the supreme court of the United States.

The story long has been current here that Mr. Bowers left his lucrative post as general counsel of the Chicago and Northwestern railway on a strong hint from President Taft that he would be given a place on the supreme bench if an opening offered before the close of the Taft administration.

Mr. Bowers came to Washington after a career identified at its start with the warm personal friendship of President Taft, which has been maintained for 30 years. Although born in Springfield, Mass., he is essentially a western man. He was a junior at Yale while Taft was a senior, and both were members of Skull and Bones. He read law in New York, practiced nine years in Winona, Minn., and for 16 years before coming to Washington a short time ago was general counsel of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, whose president, Marvin Hughitt, has been the confidant of president of the United States for a generation.

The salary of Mr. Bowers as a railroad counsel was $30,000 a year.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

Eliot People Coming Home After a Year Abroad

The Town's Centennial committee Is to Meet Tonight

Eliot, Me., March 30.

Miss Sarah Tobey went to Boston today to spend a week with her brother, Vivian Tobey.

Harlow P. Willis is at home from Dartmouth college for a vacation of two weeks. Today he is acting as chauffeur for his father, Dr. John L. M. Willis.

It is understood that Naval Constructor Frank L. Fernald, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Fernald will spend the summer at their home on Greenwood street. They have been in Europe nearly a year.

The first meeting of the committee on the town centennial is to be held this evening at the Fogg public library. It is expected that a large amount of business will be transacted.

Mrs. Edwin F. Staples is greatly improved. Her condition at one time was regarded as critical.

Two grand and two traverse jurors for the United States district court at Portland are to be drawn on Saturday evening.

MRS. MARY STEVENS

Death of Aged Woman This Morning at her Home on Union Street

Mrs. Mary I. Stevens, widow of John Stevens, died this forenoon at her home, No. 41 Union street. The remains will be taken to Portland, where the services will be held.

The rectory of the St. John's parish is being repaired and made ready for occupancy of the pastor.

PATENT TENSION SHEARS

A REGULAR 75c SHEAR FOR 39c PAIR 39c

This Elegant New Tension Spring Shear is without doubt the most useful household article ever invented—a first-class pair of Shears, equipped with a new and simple attachment which keeps them always sharp and enables the user to cut anything from wet tissue paper to the heaviest cloth.

The pair of Shears offered here is made from the best Carbon Steel, by a new process which insures strength and a keen cutting edge. A simple turn of the thumbscrew shown in engraving tightens up the blades as closely as may be desired making the Shears practically indestructible, with no wear-out to them.

We Guarantee the quality of the material and workmanship in these Shears to be first-class, that the Tension Spring device doubles the usefulness of the Shears and does away with the need of resharpening and furthermore the Manufacturer's Certificate accompanies every pair, agreeing that:

If this Pair of Shears become defective or break through any fault of material or manufacture within 5 years we hereby agree to replace same with a New Pair Free of Charge.

The school closed this morning for the spring recess of one week.

The opening of the Fran' R. Rollins Uniform Rank Knights Pythias fair was marked Tuesday night by a large attendance, and an attractive program. It consisted of selections by the Marshalls, famous Swiss bell ringers. These artists were heard in pleasing numbers, and greatly entertained the audience. Among the number who attended were many from the surrounding towns and brothers from many neighboring lodges. The hall is handsomely decorated, the designs being all in Japanese; and the booths displaying the various wares and advertisements attracted the attention of all. There are numerous devices for the investment by the patrons, and all did a brisk business.

It is one of the greatest events of the kind ever held here.

The selection are making many plans for the purchasing of a brown tail moth sprayer, and on Tuesday a visit to Boston for the purpose of inspecting them was made. The one used in Franklin park was inspected by them last week.

The funeral services of Mrs. Elizabeth Hersey were held on Tuesday at the cemetery chapel. Prayer was conducted at the home on Washington street. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. E. Lary, pastor of the Advent church.

HERE IS A REAL DYSPEPSIA CURE

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Headache Five Minutes Later

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power why not help the stomach do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or sick Stomach, and besides what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with gaseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

MORAL HYGIENE IN THE SCHOOLS

Jewish Rabbi Gives the Public a Piece of His Mind

Spokane, Wash., March 30.—Dr. David Levine, rabbi of Congregational B'nai B'rith, recently stirred up a veritable hornets' nest in Spokane when he branded the public school course in moral hygiene an absolute failure. He said the theory in sexology is that the social evil can be eradicated by knowledge, a modern instance of the old Socratic dictum that knowledge and virtue are one, adding:

"This doctrine has come down through the centuries with a momentum but little short of irresistible; due no doubt, to the magnificent moral career of Socrates, in whose life the doctrine was so luminously illustrated and seemingly vindicated. We should bear in mind, however, that this teaching was in reality but a little more than an unconscious autobiographical disclosure, but not a principle of universal validity. It assumed a will like his own—one that would serve only his highest interests. The weakness of the theory was demonstrated in the career of Socrates himself, Alcibiades. Handsome and brilliant, this young Athenian was the philosopher's darling. To him Socrates imparted instructions lovingly and lavishly. And still Alcibiades became one of the most depraved specimens of citizenship that Athens ever produced. And why? Because Alcibiades, despite all his knowledge and ability lacked a disciplined will."

Dr. Levine says that the Society for Social and Moral Hygiene would confer an unutterable blessing upon Spokane by the introduction of a system of will training in the schools and in the homes, instead of pandering to the child's craving for the mysterious and further appealing, in the old reprehensible fashion to his fear or to his pride.

DOVER DOINGS

Dover, March 30.—The members of the Stratford guards, fourth company, Coast Artillery corps, held a largely attended smoke talk at the armory on Tuesday night. Many invited guests were entertained. The main feature was a series of friendly boxing bouts between members of the artillery company. A half dozen bouts of three and six rounds were pulled off. Charles Haughey was referee. John Doley Cook entertained the crowd with songs and dances, and private McSorley with songs between the ring contests.

The funeral services of Charles A. Dore, for many years proprietor of the Kimball house, were held there his afternoon at 3 o'clock and were private. The Rev. B. F. Eaton, pastor of the Universalist church, was the officiating clergyman. The body was taken to Forest Glade cemetery, Boston, for cremation.

The walls and ceilings of the city building are being repainted and decorated by Contractor Frank Taybes. The work in the banquet hall was excellent and the hall is, without doubt, one of the most artistically decorated of any in this section.

REPUT CASE

An Immediate Hearing Is Asked by the Railroad Counsel

Concord, March 30.—Answering the recent decision of Judge Plummer of Lunenburg in the freight rates case granting a temporary injunction restraining the Boston and Maine from collecting the increased rates from the amounts fixed in 1883 and 1889 and chapter 156 of the Public Statutes, which goes into effect thirty days from the issuance of the order and which continues until the expiration of the next term in Rockingham county superior court, John M. Mitchell and Oliver E. Branch, the railroad's counsel in the case, have filed with the court the following motion for an immediate hearing or trial for the facts in the case are found; and for hearing on or before April 1 on the motions:

"The defendant moves for—

"(1) An immediate hearing, or trial, upon the merits of said petition, that the court may find the facts. The defendant is entitled to an immediate trial and hereby insists upon the same.

"(2) That the order of the court, dated March 24, 1910, of which neither the defendant, nor its counsel, had any notice, until March 26, 1910, and which order was made without a trial of the facts, without evidence, and notwithstanding the positive and distinct denial of liability, by the defendant, be dissolved, or its operation suspended, until the facts are found by the court, on the trial hereby requested and insisted upon.

"(3) That the court designate a time and place, on, or before, April 1, 1910, when the counsel may be heard upon this motion and when the date for trial of the facts may be determined.

"Boston and Maine Railroad.

By Its Attorneys,
John M. Mitchell,
Oliver E. Branch."

This action was decided upon at a conference of Messrs. Mitchell and Branch here yesterday and the motions were filed with the clerk of the Rockingham county superior court Tuesday.

SUN SHOOT "SKYROCKETS."

Sends Big Luminous Bodies Rushing Far Through Space

Chicago, March 30.—Strange "sky rocket" eruptions have been discovered on the sun, and as a result brilliant auroral displays such as have not been seen in Chicago for many years have been visible here. Prof. Edwin B. Frost, director of the Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., described the sun eruptions as follows:

"Prof. Slocum of our observatory observed strange phenomena on the sun last week. These were in the nature of eruptions from the surface of the solar body. They could be seen at the edge of the disk. One of them, which appeared about last Wednesday, shot out to a length of about 150,000 miles as nearly as we could estimate. It then detached itself from the main body and sped through space, a mass of luminous gas not dissimilar in appearance to a comet. Before it disappeared it had reached a distance from the sun of over 250,000 miles. The recent display was most striking."

Dr. Milan R. Stefanie who is on the way to the Tahiti islands, in the South Pacific ocean, to observe the passage of Halley's comet across the face of the sun on May 13, reached Chicago early Monday and visited the Yerkes Observatory. The astronomer is being sent to make observation by the Academy of France, under whose direction he has already made astronomical expeditions into many quarters of the globe.

MORE FIRES IN CHELSEA

Boston, March 30.—Chelsea had two fires last night near where the great conflagration of 1903 started, and in each instance the cause of the flames could not be determined.

A blaze in the tenement of Julius Darrish at 54 Arlington street burned through the roof and caused a loss of $500.

At 9:47, two hours later, the two-story dwelling at 1 Auburn street was damaged to the extent of $250.

Tuesday was another warm day, with the thermometer running as high as eighty in the sun and 55 in the shade. There was, however, a good breeze blowing. The warm weather has started the buds out on rose bushes and other shrubbery and unless there is a killing frost everything will be in bloom early this summer.

There were many from this city on the train that was wrecked at West Lynn on Tuesday.

BEGGS WOLTER TO ADMIT CRIME

Katie Miller Declares That She Still Loves Him

QUICK ACTION IS PROMISED

Belief That Alleged Slayer of Ruth Wheeler Will Die in Electric Chair Within Forty-Five Days From Date of Murder—Police Hope to Soon Draw Complete Narrative From the Youthful Prisoner

New York, March 30.—While the police inquirers are using a second letter from Katie Miller to force a confession, the authorities entered into an arrangement to send Albert Wolter to the chair for the slaying of Ruth Wheeler in the shortest possible passage of time. Katie Miller's letter follows:

"My Dear Al—As you have been so good to me, I beg you to tell the truth. They found a sack on our fire escape, and if they also found the other things they tell me of, I think you must be guilty. So I beg you to tell all and I will forgive you. You have been so good-hearted to me all the time that I can hardly believe it possible that you have done what they accuse you of.

"But you know what I know. I appreciate your kindness to me, but if you really harmed the little girl, I beg you to confess. Always remember, no matter what happens, I love you. Your loving, sorrowful Kathleen."

Unless the present plans miscarry, the 19-year-old abnormally will have been put to death within forty-five days from the date of the murder—a record in the administration of the criminal law in New York county.

It was last Thursday that the 16-year-old girl was killed under the most frightful circumstances. The body was not discovered until Saturday evening. Yesterday, after a little more than two days of work, the police department and the coroner's office, working together, had succeeded in constructing what the police prosecutor regards as a complete fabric of proof against the accused youth. Yesterday afternoon District Attorney Whitman put the case into the hands of his first assistant, Frank McGee, with instructions to move as rapidly as possible.

And McGee did move. Within an hour all the known witnesses had been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury today. Before night it is expected that an indictment for murder in the first degree will be returned.

The trial will begin next Monday before Judge Foster in general sessions. It is believed that less than two days will be needed to get a jury, offer all the evidence, make the speeches on both sides, and secure a conviction. As soon as the verdict is announced the judge will sentence Wolter to die within the minimum time allowed him, which is thirty days.

Still using for leverage Wolter's love for his so-called wife, Katie Miller, the men who are working on the most atrocious murder in recent years hope to draw from their terrified prisoner the complete narrative of how, through a pretense of needing a stenographer, he lured the Wheeler girl to his flat, how he choked her to death, and then dismembered her body and tried to destroy it with fire.

Up at the house of detention Inspector Titus caused Katie Miller to write Wolter another letter—the second she had written him in a few hours—and he took it to the prison and put it personally in Wolter's hands.

Evidence that may fix a motive for the crime was revealed in the findings of Professor Larkin of Columbia university. He reported that there were indications that the girl had been mistreated before being killed.

TO BRING BODIES HOME

All the Government Can Do For Gun Explosion Victims

Washington, March 30.—All that the government can do for the victims of the gun explosion on the cruiser Charleston is to bring their bodies back to America and have them interred at the places selected by their relatives.

Such an order was called by the navy department to Manila, and the bodies will be placed on the first naval vessel or army transport coming to San Francisco.

Strikers Ask Railroaders' Aid
Glens Falls, N. Y., March 30.—Leaders of the striking paper mill workers have appealed to the trainmen of the Delaware and Hudson to refuse to handle paper made by non-union men now employed in the International mills in Glens Falls and vicinity.

Ship Subsidy Probe in Congress
Washington, March 30.—The house passed a resolution for an investigation of charges that a lobby was maintained in Washington by shipping interests to corruptly influence members of the house in favor of ship subsidy legislation.

EXCISE RAIDERS BOUNCED

Police Who Said They Warred on Graft Lose Their Jobs

New York, March 30.—Because Mayor Gaynor thought that the motives of two self-constituted excise raiders in the persons of Policemen Thomas Keenan and Charles F. Cunningham might not be altogether disinterested, the men were tried on charges of violations of the police rules and were found guilty by Trial Deputy Commissioner Walsh and their dismissal recommended.

The policemen had raided saloons for violating Sunday laws. Cunningham testified that every saloon in New York could be easily closed if the captains and inspectors wanted them closed. He declared that he and Keenan made the arrests in an effort to terminate what they said they believed was grafting in the police department.

They were pretty sure, they said, that police officials were collecting, for they had often seen detectives going in and out of saloons where it was plain the law was being violated.

DYNAMITE-LADEN SCHOONER

Captain Not Afraid Unless Someone
Goes Looking For Trouble

Boston, March 30.—With seventeen tons of dynamite aboard and a large red flag at the masthead as a warning for other ships to keep away, schooner Thomas H. Lawrence, Captain Rowe, dropped anchor on the South Boston flats.

The DuPont Powder company, to whom the dynamite is consigned, has two powder hulks at anchor on the flats at all times in which they keep their explosives for the Boston trade stored, and they are as closely guarded as the United States mints.

When Captain Rowe was asked how he felt when tramping the decks over seventeen tons of dynamite, he said that he would rather carry a shipload of dynamite any time than a couple of hundred pounds of powder, as powder was dangerous at all times, while dynamite would stay quiet until somebody went looking for trouble and then it kicked.

ENTRY OF JUDGMENT IN ORR LOVE SUIT

Young Woman Had Secured a Verdict of $40,000

Boston, March 30.—"Judgment satisfied," was the brief entry made in the office of the clerk of the superior court, in the two suits of Marjory Orr against William Wood of Boston and Portland, and the third one of Charles H. Orr against the same defendant.

These were the cases tried before Judge Harris and a jury in which Miss Orr recovered $40,000 for breach of promise to marry, and $1000 for assault, and Charles H. Orr, her father, recovered $2500 for loss of her services.

After the trial a motion was made by the defense to have the verdicts set aside, on the usual grounds, the verdicts being claimed to be excessive. Since the trial counsel in the case have endeavored to reach some basis of settlement, and in this they have been successful.

The terms of the settlement are not disclosed, but it is understood a substantial amount has been paid.

IS WILLING TO FORGIVE

Boston Girl Shot by Stage Manager Is Expected to Recover

Boston, March 30.—Miss Leola Haynes, 19 years old, who was shot by a rejected suitor in her dressing room at the Seaside Temple Monday night, is resting comfortably and has expressed a willingness to forgive her assailant.

William J. Gilson, stage manager at the theatre, who is charged with the shooting, was arraigned before Justice Bolster, and waiting examination, was held in $5000 for the April term of the grand jury.

Unless complications set in Miss Haynes will be able to leave the hospital in a few days, as she suffered only superficial wounds of the neck and back.

BECOMES A COUNTESS

Harriet Daly, Daughter of Late Copper King, Weds Slay of Hungary

New York, March 30.—Count Anton Slay of Hungary and Miss Harriet Daly, daughter of the late Marcus Daly, the copper king, were married at the Daly home, 725 Fifth avenue, by Mgr. M. J. Lavelle.

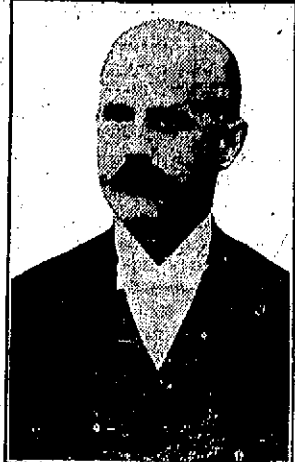

Only members of the immediate family were in attendance. Miss Daly had no bridesmaid. The count was attended by Marquis George Polavinski.

Philadelphia, March 30.—A crusade against traffic in morphine has been begun by the police. Several druggists and physicians, including a police surgeon, have been arrested.

SENATOR CONGER

Leading Figure in New York's Legislative Scandal

SENATE FINDS ALLDS GUILTY

Bribery Charges Sustained
by Decisive Vote

HE CANNOT BE PUNISHED

Released Himself From Jurisdiction of Legislative Body of Which He Was a Member by Resigning Before Voting Began—Question of What Shall Be Done With Conger Still Remains to Be Settled

Albany, March 30.—State Senator Jotham P. Allds of Chenango county was found guilty by a vote of 40 to 9 in the senate, of accepting a $1000 bribe from the bridge interests in 1901.

Politically, the vote stood: For sustaining the charges, Republicans, 29; Democrats, 11. Against sustaining the charges, Republicans, 4; Democrats, 5.

The verdict followed his resignation from the senate and marks the end of the hearing of the charge, preferred by Senator Conger, which has extended over seven weeks, revealing many side lights on the startling nature of the condition of the legislature nine years ago.

Allds' resignation was a big surprise. It was handed in on the advice of counsel. The action threw the senate into confusion. There were groups of senators standing about discussing the latest turn that the sensational affair has taken. Inasmuch as a vacancy has been created and the senator has removed himself from the jurisdiction of the senate that body was unable to punish Allds.

The question of what shall be done with Conger still remains. A report that Conger intended to follow Allds' example and resign proved unfounded and his future action is still in doubt.

Majority leader Cobb introduced a resolution providing for the formal presentation of charges against Conger, based on the evidence brought out by the investigation that he gave a bribe to influence legislation.

The senate postponed action on this proposition and adjourned for the day, after formally adopting the report of the committee of the whole, in which the question was first decided.

The voting was delayed by the resignation of Allds, which for a time threatened to disrupt the program. A number of senators saw in this development a chance to avoid committing themselves individually on the main question. A tentative proposition to dispense with a vote on the question of sustaining the charges was discussed during a short recess, but the appeal of Cobb that the members had no right to avoid the responsibility in this way finally prevailed and the voting followed.

A statement given out by Allds' counsel declared that Allds resigned on the advice of his attorneys because the latter were satisfied that his case was not to be decided by the evidence, but by political expediency and influence brought to bear from "Washington and elsewhere."

Developments will follow thick and fast on the action of the senate. Allds' resignation makes it possible for Governor Hughes to call a special election for the immediate selection of Allds' successor. Provisions for a general investigation of alleged legislative corruption will now be made with all speed.

Killed by Bread Mixing Machine
Boston, March 30.—While at work in a bakery Giuseppe Vitranio, aged 45, was dragged into a dough-mixing machine and so badly cut that he died on his way to a hospital. It is thought that his apron became caught in the machinery and that he was pulled among the flying steel paddles.

Big Cargoes of Raw Sugar
Boston, March 30.—Two vessels reached Boston with 5,385,000 pounds of sugar for Boston refineries. The steamers are the Avrona and the Bogorok. During the past ten days millions of pounds of sugar have arrived in Boston.

THE STANDARD'S SARCASTIC

London Paper Has a Few Things to Say About Roosevelt

London, March 30.—The Standard this morning devotes a long editorial to ironical reference to Colonel Roosevelt's progress. Alluding to a recent rumor that the ex-president had received an offer of the post of adviser-general to the Chinese empire, The Standard says he is obviously the man for the position.

It remarks that the ordinary traveler requires months of study and observation before venturing an opinion on foreign nations. With a "man of genius" it is otherwise. A few weeks, spent mainly on the cars and steamers and at the hotels, qualifies him to pronounce judgments for the instruction of listening nations.

"We look forward with keen anticipation," the editorial concludes, "to Mr. Roosevelt's discovery of the British Isles and have his candid remarks on our shortcomings. We might return the compliment by sending, say Mr. Asquith, to lecture the citizens of the United States on their national defects and imperfections."

LORDS INTEND TO FIGHT

Not Inclined to Yield to Demand For Surrender of Veto

London, March 30.—The first day's debate in the house of commons on Premier Asquith's resolutions dealing with the veto power of the house of lords proved conclusively that the lords will not yield their privileges without a great struggle.

A. J. Balfour, the opposition leader in the commons, declared plainly that it was the intention of his party to take the first opportunity to repeal any measure restricting the house of lords' power of veto.

On the other hand, Asquith's speech seems to have put fresh heart into his conglomerate party, and the speeches of John E. Redmond for the Irish party and George N. Barnes for the Laborites; as well as those of the representatives of the Welsh constituencies, all breathed defiance to the lords.

POLICEMAN ROBBED OF SHIELD AND CASH

Slit Cut in His Trousers While
He Is Reading Paper

New York, March 30.—While Policeman Frank Hase was traveling to Manhattan from his home in Brooklyn on the rear platform of a street car a thief cut a slit in the side of his trousers and extracted from a pocket Hase's shield and $18. The policeman was reading a newspaper at the time.

When Hase reached the station he discovered his loss and reported the matter to Lieutenant Norton, who said he would have to make a charge against the policeman for losing his shield. So Hase will have to appear for trial. He probably will lose a day's pay besides the $18.

FAR FROM NATIVE HAUNTS

Death of Last of Peary's Dogs Which Reached Pole With Him

Portland, Me., March 30.—The last survivor of the pack of dogs which reached the North Pole with Commander Peary died here, his strength worn out by the approaching spring weather and by the unaccustomed surroundings of dog shows.

The dog was Peary's favorite, selected by him as the first of the pack to go on the last stage of the memorable exploring expedition in the frozen north. He was the only one of the small pack that reached the Pole who returned in good condition, all the others having been killed for food or become so weakened that they did not survive long after the return.

Peary brought him to his home on Flag Island in Casco bay, where he died.

MENELIK NOT DEAD

Preparations to Prevent War When Monarch Passes Away

Rome, March 30.—The report of the death of King Menelik of Abyssinia is officially denied. A dispatch from Addis Ababa says that Empress Taitou is still nursing the king, but that a regency has been constituted and is now carrying on the government.

The capital, the dispatch says, is overflowing with soldiers loyal to Ras Teama; the regent, and more are expected to reach the city soon. Such energetic preparations aim to prevent complications or civil war on the death of Menelik, which is expected at almost any moment.

Retract Plea of Not Guilty

Boston, March 30.—The three alleged counterfeiters who were arrested as the result of a raid by secret service men on a den at 185 Franklin street, all retracted their pleas of not guilty when arraigned before Judge Robert E. Sample and Frederick Hartung.

Cannibals Eat a White Man
Liverpool, March 30.—Thirty-four whites were massacred on the African ivory coast by cannibal Kroos and Fantoes, who ate one of their victims. The news was brought here by the steamer Selago.

LEROY PERCY

Mississippi Planter Recently Made Senator

CONSPIRACY, SAYS PERCY

Denies Knowledge of Bribery Deal in Mississippi

STORY OF STATE SENATOR

He Declares at Jackson That He Accepted Money to Secure Evidence That Candidate For United States Senate Was Buying Votes—Was Acting as Spy For Vardaman, Who Was Percy's Opponent

Washington, March 30.—Senator Leroy Percy of Mississippi, replying to a charge that State Senator Bilbo had been given a bribe by L. C. Dulaney, one of Percy's supporters in the recent senatorial contest in which he defeated Governor Vardaman, made a statement in which he said:

"Not a cent was ever used during the senatorial fight in Jackson by me or with my procurement, consent or knowledge to influence any member of the legislature, nor have I the least idea that any such expenditure was ever made by any friend of mine." He added that Bilbo was known as a bitter partisan of Vardaman and said that the "effort merely is to besmirch the election so as to discredit the result in the primary election fight for the full senatorial term which is to be held in the summer of 1911, Vardaman now being engaged in stumping the state in the contest."

L. C. Dulaney, at Jackson, Miss., a prominent planter, has been arrested for, it is alleged, tendering a bribe to State Senator Theodore Bilbo. A grand jury did not indict Bilbo. A resolution pending in the senate demanding the expulsion of Bilbo was held in abeyance.

All this happened in rapid succession after a formal declaration by Bilbo that during the recent legislative caucus he accepted a bribe to be used as evidence in support of charges that irregular methods were used to encompass the defeat of Vardaman, of whom he was supporter.

Bilbo swore before the grand jury, according to his own statement, that he was acting as a spy for Vardaman to find out if Percy was buying votes, and that he went to Dulaney, who is a wealthy politician, and offered to sell his vote for $1000. He had arranged to have a witness present when the money was delivered, but at the time could not complete this arrangement. Dulaney gave him only $645, he said, and this he presented to a preacher to feed the poor and for other church work.

BLIZZARD HITS THE WEST

Wire Communication Is Interrupted
and Trains Are Stalled

Chicago, March 30.—A terrific rain, snow and sleet storm, accompanied by high winds, is raging throughout eastern Colorado and western Nebraska. It has cut off Denver from wire communication with the east and has caused much delay to transportation.

According to meagre reports received by telegraph companies, trains traversing that territory are stalled in snow drifts and rotary plows have been called into service to relieve the blockade.

Woman Killed by Train

Worcester, Mass., March 30.—While trying to cross the railroad track near the Union station, Mary E. Tibborsky, aged 48, was instantly killed by a freight train.

TWO DEATHS MAR WEDDING

Carriage Containing Guests Smashed
by Train When Nearing Church

Wareham, Mass., March 30.—Two lives were lost in a grade crossing accident here last night, in which a carriage on the way to a wedding was struck by a train not 100 yards from the church in which the ceremony was to take place.

Charles A. Bryer of Centre Harbor, N. H., brother-in-law of the bride, was killed, as was Ernest M. Harlow, a local carriage driver, and Mrs. Katherine M. Bryer, wife of the former and the bride's own sister, was so seriously injured that she may die.

The church wedding was not held, but the marriage was celebrated quietly in the home of George C. Flett, father of the bride and of Mrs. Bryer. In another room, while the ceremony was taking place, Mrs. Bryer was suffering from three fractured ribs, a dislocated shoulder and possibly internal injuries.

The principals of the wedding were Miss Helen R. Flett and Leonard G. Buckle.

EXPRESS TRAIN DERAILED

Broken Rail Said to Be to Blame For Accident at Lynn

Lynn, Mass., March 30.—While travelling through West Lynn a Portland express brought up with a shock with four cars off the rails and a number of passengers and train hands more or less injured. Conductor Miller was the most seriously injured, with cuts, bruises and internal hurts. Milo Millet of Boston, a passenger, had his leg broken. A number of passengers were badly shaken up, and several received cuts from flying glass.

The derailed train consisted of a combination express and baggage car, a Pullman and three regular coaches, the latter being in the rear.

The wreck is said to have been caused by a broken rail. Engineer Latham and Fireman Stewart saved themselves by jumping before the engine fell over.

ALEXANDER AGASSIZ DIES ON THE OCEAN

Millionaire Scientist Was Returning From a Trip Abroad

Boston, March 30.—A wireless message was received here saying that Alexander Agassiz, president of the Calumet and Hecla Mining company, and one of those principally responsible for its developments, a generous benefactor of Harvard university, philanthropist, noted scientist and holder of honors from many great scientific bodies, died on the steamer Adriatic, due in New York today.

News of Professor Agassiz's death came as a great surprise and shock. So far as his intimates knew he was in the best of health.

Professor Agassiz was the son of the "Great Louis" Agassiz, the famous Harvard geologist, and followed in his father's footsteps. For many years he devoted his time to the Harvard department of comparative zoology, founded by his father, and did much exploration work that won him fame.

Professor Agassiz was a millionaire many times over, but never allowed that to interfere with his work as a scientist. He was president of the National Academy of Sciences. He was born in Switzerland seventy-four years ago.

SOLD "LOVE CHARMS"

Violator of Our Postal Regulations
Has to Pay Fine of $50

Boston, March 30.—Joseph Kowalevsky, who attempted to do a mail order business in alleged efficacious love charms at 25 cents each, was fined $50 by Judge Lowell in the United States circuit court for violation of the postal regulations.

The "charm" was advertised in New York and was produced by writing the names of the unresponsive lover, the loving one, and also of Adam and Eve on four leaves of a tree, which were burned and the ashes cast into the drink of the cold-hearted one. The spell would be effective, it was alleged, provided the ashes were consumed in the drink.

VILLAGES SAFE FROM LAVA

Situation Considered Better, Although Etna's Activity Increases

Catania, March 30.—Mount Etna is somewhat more active. The moderation of some solidification of the lava and the new streams are therefore moving more slowly than those which flowed from the crater.

While the fields and the vineyards have been greatly damaged, none of the villages are now threatened.

Counter Workers Demand More Pay
Lynn, Mass., March 30.—The Grain Counter Workers' union, 300 strong, present a solid front in their demand for a new scale of wages after May 1, which they placed in the hands of the Manufacturers' association. The new scale calls for an advance of $2 or more a week per member.

NEW HAMPSHIRE PUBLICITY

One really notable thing was done on Tuesday, March 22, at the meeting of the executive committee of the New Hampshire Press Association. Every newspaper worker in the state was voted a member of the New Hampshire publicity committee. This work need not be confined to the newspaper men. Let everybody in New Hampshire take a hand in boosting the state among the commonwealths.

Here are a few of the items about which New Hampshire people may well inform their acquaintances far and near:

Unutilized water powers.
The finest orchard soil in America.
The finest orchard climate on the earth.

Nearness to the New England market, the best in the world.
Superior educational system.
An enlightened population.

The finest lakes and mountains in the United States.
As fine beaches as the Atlantic coast has anywhere.

The deepest watered harbor on the Atlantic coast.
The best roads of any state in the Union except Massachusetts and New Jersey.

There are more, but just keep those few constantly before the people of the United States and watch New Hampshire grow.

BIRDS EYE VIEWS

The wireless telegraphy experts on board H. M. S. Vernon, the experimental school at Portsmouth, England, have completed a new apparatus which may work a change in wireless warships. It will be installed on the Dreadnought and will enable Sir William May, the commander-in-chief of the home fleet, to keep in touch with the admiralty at Whitehall and receive instructions from the first sea lord. It will also enable messages to be sent direct from England to Malta for the first time. The operating room has been fitted with soundproof walls, and even when the Dreadnought is going at full speed in high seas, with tons of water rushing hoisily along her decks, not a sound will be heard in this chamber. The apparatus will be completed by April 12, and the Dreadnought will leave four days later to rejoin the home fleet at the Nile as the flagship of the commander-in-chief.

Washington dispatches state that Speaker Cannon is tremendously cheered these days by the flood of encouraging letters that are pouring in upon his desk with every mail. His secretaries wrote one hundred acknowledgements to such communications in one day. Some of these communications which are coming from every state from Maine to California, are couched in emphatic language. They extol the speaker for his game fight and assure him that the Republicans of the land are with him and against the insurgents.

The writers for the most part apparently are regular republicans, but certain of them claim they were formerly insurgent sympathizers. One of his recent letters was from Lieut. Gov. John Strange of Wisconsin, who says he has been a follower of La Follette.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES
On Probation
Despite their unwillingness actually to depose Mr. Cannon, the insurgents seem to have far-reaching plans regarding the Speakership. Whether they can carry them out at present remains to be seen; everything depends upon the willingness of the Democrats to support them. But they obviously mean that Mr. Cannon shall feel that he is on probation, and that if he indulges in further tyrannical conduct he may yet be voted out of office. From the merely personal point of view the expediency of such action is open to debate. It is well, on the whole, that he was not removed at the time when his power over the committee on rules was taken away from him. The refusal to do this left him a chance to resign which a more sensitive or scrupulous man would have accepted, and at the same time gave him no opportunity to pose as a martyr. If hereafter he should show that he has not learned his lesson, if he should indulge in acrimonious personalities, if he should use his still great influence to punish his enemies or obstruct the legislation they favor it would be possible to depose him without the embarrassment of creating sympathy for him. There is no harm in letting Mr. Cannon understand that he is under suspicion.—Providence Journal.

The Forest Reserve Bill

Conservation in the newer parts of the country is wisely undertaken to guard the future, but in the White and Appalachian mountains it is a grave condition of the present that demands relief.

This has already been practically admitted by both houses of Congress. Each passed a bill last year but these bills were not identical and the failure to appoint a conference committee during the last days of the session was a serious disappointment to the friends of the movement. The senate was working by unanimous consent under suspension of the rules and certain members from the Rocky Mountain states, prominent among them being Teller of Colorado and Heyburn of Idaho, raised objections to the appointment of such a committee and the measure was thus snuffed out when its prospects seemed brightest. These senators announced that if an attempt was made to pass the bill they would require full time for debate and thus occupy all the time that remained of the session, a favorite form of tactics with senators of that region.

One of the most formidable opponents of this legislation as Speaker Cannon, who went so far on one occasion as to leave the Chair to record his vote in the negative, besides putting in its way the many objections that were at his command. Possibly his attitude toward it will now be a somewhat more chastened one. New Hampshire has been putting herself in shape to make the most of this opportunity when she gets it. Her forestry commission has been reorganized, a capable State forester has been appointed, an excellent fire law has been adopted, and Congress could hardly send a better message to the country than that Mr. Weeks' able and persistent efforts had borne the fruits that they deserved.—Boston Transcript.

Nice Democratic Harmony, But—
Without the support of the states bounded on the north side by the Ohio river, on the southwest by the Rio Grande and on the east by the Potomac and the Atlantic, the national democratic party in recent national elections would have withered out of existence.

And yet, when the democrats nominate their minority representation on the all-important house rules committee, only one rock-ribbed democratic state—Alabama—is recognized, in the person of Oscar Underwood.

Fitzgerald of New York, Champ Clark of Missouri and Dixon of Indiana are estimable gentlemen and properly certified party men.

In recent presidential elections none of their states have been democratic. The nearest approach is Missouri, and that has gone republican in two successive presidential elections.

Every four years the majority rolled up by Texas and Georgia lead the list of democratic triumphs—practically all confined to the south.

Would it not have been more consistent, certainly more graceful, to have recognized this fact by giving the South Atlantic and Gulf section which furnishes about 80 percent of the democratic vote of the house, at least two of the four minority?

The caucus at which these nominations were made was inspiringly democratic, a spectacle at which all true democrats must rejoice as being prophetic and, possibly, a trifle uncharacteristic, if we consider recent years.

But—is the section that obligingly underwrites the mere detail of furnishing the votes never to be accorded just recognition, either in party councils or national affairs?—Atlantic Constitution.

A TIMELY TOPIC.

BY AMELIA E. BARR, Author

IF America has a national fault it lies in the fact that Americans carry everything to extremes.

Overindulgence in athletic sport brutalizes a woman. It robs her of the fine bloom of her womanhood. More than any one thing, I believe the craze for athletics is responsible for the passing of the old fashioned woman—the sort of woman the average man wishes to marry.

Women were never meant to be athletic. They were meant to be mothers and homemakers. Great muscular development of their bodies is not natural, and it leads to an unnatural condition of mind as well as of body. There are physical conditions which forbid a woman's overindulgence in athletic sports.

The woman given up to athletic sports is not interested in womanly things. She knows nothing of housekeeping and cares less. She has no time for children, though she may find time to caress a poodle dog. She becomes a member of a mysterious third sex—neither man nor woman, but a sort of a conglomerate.

Athletic women do not marry. By the time they are ready to give up their sport and settle down they have lost that which makes a woman desirable to men. Most men do not want to marry a woman who talks the slang of the haddock and the street.

When a man's heart is set upon marriage he looks about him until he finds a quiet little home body, whose chief interest will be centered about her husband and their home.

Then everybody says, "I wonder what he ever saw in her?"

Possibly the man himself could not explain what he saw in the woman of his choice save that she was "nice."

Should a woman take exercise? Indeed she should! I have no quarrel with physical exercise. Let her walk. I have lived to reach my seventy-ninth year. For sixty years I have had my share of hard work. I have borne enough in sorrow and trouble and actual toil to kill a dozen "athletic women." Yet walking has been my only exercise.

ATHLETICS

Brutalizes Girls

Several Have Occurred in Western Half of This County

Exeter, March 30.—Forest fires in this section have raged to a great extent this week, and many acres of wood land have been burned over.

The first one to be reported was on Monday at East Kingston on the land of John H. Currier, when several acres of wood land was burned over.

Shortly after this alarm flames started on the land of James Stevens near Great Hill in Brentwood, where they ran amuck for nearly half a day, from a brush fire kindled on his land.

On Tuesday afternoon another conflagration was reported in Kensington, which caused much uneasiness to the residents there, as many of the buildings were endangered. The buildings of John W. York were in the wake of the flames, and they were protected by ploughing around them, as were those of Leroy Sanborn. William Hilliard's buildings were also endangered by the fire.

The burned district in all will probably amount to nearly 100 acres consisting for the most part of standing timber, the flames being the ready victims for the flames' roaring, of which could be heard for a long distance. They also swept through a valuable peach orchard owned by Mr. Stinson.

THE WEATHER
Wednesday night and Tuesday—Unsettled weather, cloudy, with low temperature and probable thunder storms.

Two Vital Things Required in Treating Skin Diseases

In treating and curing Eczema and other well defined skin diseases, two vital things must be done. One is to exclude dust, germs and air from the diseased part, and the other is to get up the healing process at the same time. The new medical preparation called Cadum accomplishes both these results so effectively that the itching stopped as soon as it is applied, and the sore parts heal up in a wonderfully short time. Any one with skin trouble can test Cadum by getting a 0 cent box at any drug store, and he personally realize the power of this new compound, which is just as effective in the cure of pimples, blotches, blackheads, eruptions, acne, herpes, scaly skin, rash, sores, chafings, etc.

BEANS HIGHER:
Boston, March 30.—The price of Boston's favored and most noted article—the baked bean—has increased over 33.1 per cent in the last two years, and caused a decrease in the consumption of approximately 9 per cent. Two years ago beans retailed at 7 and 8 cents per quart, while they now cost 10 and 11 cents.

Boston's bean bill in 1909 was nearly $5,000,000, an increase of about $1,000,000 over the cost of beans in the previous year, notwithstanding the decreased amount used. In 1908 there were consumed in this city 589,919 bushels of beans. Last year this amount fell off to 530,883 bushels, a decrease of 1,696,000 quarts, approximately.

Salt pork, used in cooking beans, has also taken a decided jump in the price since 1908. Three years ago pork sold for 11 cents a pound. Today the same quality costs 18 cents a pound, an increase of about 63 per cent.

COULD BLOW UP SPANISH KING

Madrid, March 30.—Quite a network of subterranean passages under the royal palace of Spain has been discovered following a subsidence of the street fronting it. Their extent can only be guessed at as the work of exploration is still in progress, but it is certain they are very numerous. One of them passes directly under King Alfonso's private apartments.

The discovery was made several days ago when as a street car was passing along the Plaza de Oriente the earth caved in and the car dropped into a deep hole in front of the palace. When the car was lifted out it was seen that the hole was about forty-five feet deep. A force of workmen was employed and the work of exploring the hidden recesses of the cavity began. Meanwhile the members of the royal family and visitors to the palace were forced to have their automobiles and carriages enter its portals on foot.

The first labors of the workmen brought to light a very old gallery of solid construction, which it is supposed was intended as a secret exit from or entrance to the royal palace. As the extent of the labyrinth dived on those in charge of the work more laborers were employed and pumps were set at work to drain out the water found at the low level. Several connecting passages were then seen branching out at intervals from one main artery of the subterranean system.

Along these, the workmen, bearing miners' lamps, travelled for several hundred feet and finally reached a kind of central square, which it was found, lies directly under King Alfonso's apartments. From the nature of the construction it is deduced that the galleries were built at least one hundred and fifty years ago. The present palace was constructed in 1735 on the site of an anterior one, which was destroyed by fire. Previously the site was occupied by the Moor's Alcazar.

ONE MOMENT PLEASE!

Electric Sign advertising is no longer an experiment. The most successful firms of world-wide reputation as well as the stores with whom we have done business give us facts that prove the advertising worth of Electric Signs to be far in excess of any method of advertising that has ever been devised for the amount expended.

Look for the most enterprising city of today and you will find one that uses Electric Signs on all available locations and where merchants appreciate the advertising value and use light. I am making and selling the best signs that can be produced, not the cheapest, but signs that will stand up and give service for years. Recent inventions have reduced the cost and also the cost of maintaining. Public spirit and civic pride demand well lighted business sections in our cities, why not do your part with a well lighted, artistic Electric Sign and increase your business as well.

I charge nothing for estimates or sketches and am always willing to explain details and serve your interests. Respectfully yours,

NEEDLESS ALARM FOR A GRASS FIRE

There was a needless alarm of fire sent in from box 37, at the corner of Cuss and Jallington streets, a few minutes before seven o'clock on Tuesday evening, which called the department to a grass fire on the shores of Christian Shore across the pond from the D. and M. round house.

There was absolutely no need of the alarm, the fire being started by the owner of the land and safe-guarding the spread of it. The fire was seen from Jallington street and somebody, who evidently failed to investigate pulled in the alarm at box 37. The apparatus made fast time, but only got as far as the box when they were stopped.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS SEEING WASHINGTON

This paper is privileged to quote from a private letter written Monday night by one of the Portsmouth High school seniors to a chum in this city as follows:

I have not much time so I shall not go into details.

We arrived in Boston at about 3.30, and then after a small trip around the city we went to the South station, where we were met by our guide, who, by the way, had three parties to look out for, instead of one as we thought.

We had an uneventful trip in the steamer Providence, and were landed in New York, from whence we took the train for Washington. On the way a basket lunch was served. We arrived in the capital city about half past one and were taken to the Jenson Hotel, our headquarters. In private automobiles. After looking over the city a little, we took an auto tour of the city, returning to the hotel a little past six. During the evening, there being no church, we walked around the town.

Monday was spent in seeing the egg rolling contest, visiting the bureau of engraving and printing, Smithsonian Institute, National Museum and Washington monument. Our conductor did not know anything about our meeting Taft and it was therefore put off, but we expect an appointment tomorrow morning.

During the afternoon, through the courtesy of Senator Burnham, the party was shown through the capital. This evening, Monday, we expect to visit the Library.

SEEING THINGS AT WASHINGTON

Queer Ideas About the First Maine Congressional District

Boston, March 30.—The Transcript publishes the following Washington dispatch:

Asher C. Hinds, the latest newspaper nominee for speaker to succeed Joseph G. Cannon, is in the comfortably disturbed frame of mind of a little boy of whom he tells. The boy went to his mother one day with a serious face. "Do you know, mamma," he said, "I've been investigating about this Santa Claus story and there's nothing in it, and now I'm going to look into this Jesus business."

Mr. Hinds, clerk to the speaker and the leading authority in the country on parliamentary law, is a candidate for congress himself from the first Maine district. While no one except Representative Poindexter of Washington appears serious in wanting to displace Cannon with Hinds, the proposition was the talk of the capital today. The Poindexter plan is to elect Hinds regardless of his present non-membership in the house, on the theory that the English idea of a speaker who is only a presiding officer, without further power, is the only proper one for the United States to adopt; and that the material for the best speaker of that kind in the world lies right at hand in Asher Hinds.

Mr. Hinds aspires to represent the first Maine district in congress, that which sent Thomas B. Reed to congress. This is the Portland district, and in the forty years since the Civil war it has had only four representatives, John Lynch, John H. Burleigh, Thomas B. Reed and Amos L. Allen, who was private secretary to Reed and succeeded him by acclamation when that great speaker resigned to practise law in New York. Mr. Allen is retiring voluntarily as he is an old man, and Hinds is fighting Fred Hale, son of the senior senator from Maine, for the nomination. The dominance of Maine in the national government has been due to her wise policy of electing strong men and keeping them in Washington, and as long ago as the Forty-Eighth congress, which began its sessions in 1882, she was represented in the senate by Eugene Hale and William F. Frye and in the House by Thomas B. Reed, Captain "Charlie" Boutelle, chairman of naval affairs later; Nelson W. Dingley, Jr., later chairman of ways and means and author of the tariff bill that bears his name, and Seth L. Milliken. James G. Blaine, Reed's predecessor in the chair, succeeded Schuyler Colfax in the Forty-first congress, and advanced from there to the senate. The Hinds nomination is not taken very seriously in Washington, although one need not be a member of the House to be elected speaker. But everyone that comes to Washington expects Hinds to beat Hale out of his boots. In fact, the candidacy of the son of his father is not helping the senator much, and the old gentleman realizes, it is said, that he must look out sharp and not let Judge Frederick Powers make too great headway.

Cairo, Egypt, March 30.—Colonel Roosevelt sailed today for Italy, leaving Egypt in a ferment of excitement over his speech denouncing the assassination of the Premier and advocating the continuance of British control in Egypt.

He got away with no more serious consequences than cries of "Down with Roosevelt," "Away with the Hars," "Down with the false one," from enraged Nationalists.

It is difficult to say, however, how far the enraged Nationalists might have gone in venting their anger if the ex-president had remained another day. Not since the Arabi Pasha revolt has Egypt been so stirred as by the speech of the great American hunter. Five hundred young Egyptians took part last night in the demonstration in protest against Colonel Roosevelt's speech. They paraded about the town brandishing the national flag and crying "Vive liberty." The crowd stopped in front of Sheppard's shouting at the top of their voices. They thought Roosevelt was there, but as a matter of fact he was calling on Prince Eltel at another hotel.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES

The Kaiser was recently induced to relax his rule of attending the performance of the Royal opera house by allowing the crown prince to persuade him to visit the New theatre of Berlin, patronized by the middle classes, where he was agreeably entertained with a historical drama dealing with the sojourn of Voltaire at Frederick the Great's chateau of Sans Souci. The emperor complimented Manager Schroeder, lauded historical plays and then abruptly inquired: "How about the box office receipts?"

George Monroe, who plays the role of a Jersey cook lady in "The Midnight Sons," has been playing this style of stage creation for over 25 years. He originally created the role of a grotesque Irish woman as an amateur in Philadelphia, impersonating a neighbor.

A German play said to bear some resemblance to "Madame X" particularly as to plot, is being prepared for production by two managers in this country.

Somerset Maugham, having won a fortune with plays directed to the popular desire, says he now shall write a serious drama.

Raymond Hitchcock and Flora Zabelle will visit Europe in July. Thomas E. Shea is busy rewriting a play by Samuel Shipman, which was called "The Spell." In its new form, intended for his own use next season, Mr. Shea will probably call it "The Money Master."

Maurice Campbell will try out a play by Percy Mackaye this spring. It has not been named as yet and will be done merely to get it ready for next season.

The Lambs' club voted to give up the series of Lambs' gambols that it had planned for the spring, in order that it might devote its entire attention to the preparation of performances that it will present in the theatre at the actors' fund fair.

Among Injured.

Milo C. Miller of Charlestown, an assistant conductor of train 44, a fast express from Portland, on the eastern division of the Boston-Maine, was seriously injured, and several passengers were slightly hurt, when the train was wrecked at noon, Tuesday at the junction of the Saugus branch and main line track, about 300 feet west of West Lynn depot.

While speeding along at a 30-mile clip locomotive 827 ran into an open switch leading to the Saugus branch.
The wheels of the locomotive left the rails turning sharply to the right and plowed along the sleepers for a distance of two car lengths until it toppled over on its right side and landed in a heap of gravel a battered wreck. Locomotive 2758 was toppled over and badly damaged, as was pulman car 621 in which were 22 passengers. The injured were:

Milo C. Miller, assistant conductor, leg fractured and nervous shock. At Lynn hospital.

William H. Hitchcock, 29 Commel-cial street, stonographer, left ankle sprained.

Charles Mathes 33 Frederick street,
Portland, baggage master, bruised
about face and hands.

J. J. Carr, 8 Willard street, West End, Boston, Armstrong street agent, bruised about legs.

Pullman passenger named Mack, cut about right eye.

The train was in charge of conductor George Kennard of Somerville with engineer C. W. Latham of 12 Chapel street, South Portland, Me., and C. F. Stewart of Portland, fireman in the cab.

West of the West Lynn station
when the train was making 30 miles an hour, and running upon what engineer Latham believed was a clear track, for he stated that the signal lights were all right, the big locomotive of the grasshopper type, struck the open switch leading around a curve to the Saugus branch. It left the rails, as did the baggage car, the pullman and the front trucks of the first day coach.

After plowing along the rails, the

Can You Tell What Ails This Man?

He has a good appetite, but no desire for work or exercise. His sleep is troubled, he has pains in back and shoulders, a coated tongue and a dark brown taste in his mouth. He is dizzy when he arises from stooping over. His bowels are irregular and often constipated. Do you know what ails him? Did you ever feel that way?
The truth is he is bilious. His bowels are clogged up. The bile and poisonous secretions of the stomach, not finding their natural outlet, are being absorbed by the blood. He is being poisoned!

In all such cases take Smith's Pin-apple and Butternut Pills, which are an infallible remedy for biliousness and all other forms of liver trouble. Their effects are quickly seen in a complete change of spirits, regular daily movements of the bowels, refreshing sleep and a rapid return of healthy appetite and digestion. Physicians use and recommend. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

TAFT'S MEASURES DRAGGING ALONG

Washington, March 30.—The President's railroad bill is being strangled in the Senate. Some strong rescuing hand is needed there. It is claimed that Senator Aldrich, who is to return forthwith from Rhode Island will save the measure from the slow legislative death which results from senatorial indifference.

Senator Elkins, of West Virginia,
chairman of the interstate-commerce committee, was expected to manage the bill on the floor. His best friends have to concede that he has not been a success in that role. He poses as the friend of the people,
but is not an enemy of the railroads.
Being without experience in handling legislation, he has allowed himself to be buffeted about and to date has made practically no affirmative progress. The only speech in favor of the bill was made by the senator himself.

The opposition is now up in arms

Japan and War.

A prominent ambassador at Washington says the peace of the world develops upon the United States; that the danger of war pivots upon the far east, and Japan has played her hand.
If war results from the situation in the far east in a way to involve this country the decision rests ultimately with Japan. The United States may be the only possible peacemaker, but that is a secondary consideration at present.

The United States is not seeking war with Japan nor nagging the Japs into hostilities. She is insisting upon the observance of certain treaty stipulations and loyalty to various "agreements." Her attitude now is what it was five years ago, and it aggressive
now in Japan's eyes it has been aggressive all the way through. Japan may see that her commercial future is imperiled by the growth of the United States. If the Japs are determined to fight over that, this country cannot very well hold them without first administering a thrashing. That's all.

LITERARY NOTES

Buzz Buzz Whizz!

This is the way Louis Joseph Vance's thrilling detective story, "The Brass Bowl," impresses the reader. It starts off like an 80 horse-power racing auto, and it keeps up the pace. It is the most exciting detective story
since the days of Poe and Gaboriau.
Geet! whiz! how he keeps its going!
There are things doing all the time.
And running all through this sparkling book is the prettiest love story
you ever read. The New York Sunday World is going to give this story free in 20,000-word installments during the next five weeks. It begins next Sunday, April 3. Get in line. Edition

Pritchett's Baseball Belle

President H. S. Pritchett of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching writes in the April Scribner's Magazine of "The Evolution of College Baseball." Dr. Pritchett has been associated with the game for forty years, "first as a player, secondly as a coach of my boys, and lastly as an observer." He believes that most of the abuses and vulgarity of college baseball have come from the introduction of "professional coaches," and that to abolish the professional coach and the gate receipts would tend to very much improve the sport.

April 10 Story Book

The contents of April 10 Story Book are of a character varied and unusual all timely and spicily written.

"Why did she carry on like that?"
by Elwell V. Polson is a clever sketch based on the back-of-the-neck dances, now so much in vogue. Another stab at society, so-called is "Mrs. Frizzelli Finds Two Easy Marks," by Garrard Harris, and tells how two rival leaders finally outwit a clever confidence woman.

Two Good Stories.

"Success Magazine" for April commences with a charming story by Robert Hughes, entitled "The Tilt Tilt." "The B-Flat Trombone," is the first of a series of absorbing defective stories by Samuel Hopkins Adams. There is a delightful funny short story by Hugh Pondexter, entitled "Going Home to Mother's" and an interesting tale of an international love affair by Mary Heaton Vorse, called "The Well-Beloved."

Camp on Baseball

In the April Century Walter Camp's series of articles on American sports reaches "The American National Game," treating, with characteristic authority and interest, professional and college baseball in the seventy years of its making. The illustrations are by Kemble and in his best vein of character with humor.

STATE COLLEGE

Capt. M. H. Burroughs, '10, of the baseball team issued the call for endorses for the team last Monday, and about fifty responded. Practice has been held daily in a field adjoining Thompson hall, and it will in the regular diamond on the campus next week, as soon as the ice and snow is dried up. The first games of the season was played Friday afternoon between the Regulars and the Yanigans.
The N. H. men who are out for the team this year include Capt. E. H.
Burroughs, '10; W. W. Burroughs, '10;
C. A. Neal, '10; H. C. Read, '10, and
C. W. Kemp, '11.

At a meeting of the freshman class
Van E. Leavitt of Laconia was elected manager of the baseball team.

At a meeting of the athletic association New Hampshire college placed track athletics on the recognized list of sports by electing Charles F. Whittenburg, '11, Pembroke, manager of the track team. Previous to this time the college has not had a track team and the only track event of the year was the annual class meet in June. A new quarter mile track, partially constructed last fall, is now being finished. There will be at least one dual meet with some other college, besides the annual class games. Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Rhode Island are the two colleges which wish to arrange for a meet this spring.

While the track is being placed in condition a large number of track team candidates have been taking cross country runs every afternoon.
There are about twenty in the squad.

The gallery for the College Rifle club in the basement of the gymnasium is almost finished, and will be in condition for shooting in a few days.
There are fifty and seventy-five foot ranges.

TO JUNK HEAP

Fate of the Manhattan Was Determined Monday Afternoon

Portland, Me., March 30.—The decree has been given and the steamer Manhattan, formerly one of the best boats that ever ran out of Portland will be broken up for junk. Yesterday afternoon at the office of Agent Clay of the Maine Steamship company bids were received from those people who thought they would like to purchase the burned and blackened hull.
Tenders were received from 19 different people and firms.

General Manager H. J. Noble of the Maine Steamship company, came down especially for the occasion and he opened the sealed bids at 2:45. It was decided the bulk of the steamer should be awarded to the Buxton-Doane company of Boston, whose bid was $4266. But this was not the highest bid; there was one of $6050 that purported to come from a man in Worcester, though his name or address could not be distinctly read.
And there was another of $5100 from a Biddeford man. The stipulation was made that the people who made bids must be present or represented. But in the case of these two high ones, there was no response when the offers were called so the award was made to the Boston firm.

In all there were 19 bidders and the prices offered varied greatly. The lowest figure given at all was $2350 and they ran from that figure up to the amount offered by the successful firm. Thomas Towle, purchaser of the Ceranium, who had set his heart on having the Manhattan lost her by a scant hundred dollars. A large crowd was in attendance when the bids were opened and considerable surprise was expressed that the offers were so low.

D. J. Murphy, who represented the Buxton-Doane company, announced that the Manhattan would be broken up for junk. Whether this will be done here or in Boston has not yet been decided. It would be possible to tow the shattered hull to the Hub in the calm summer seas and this may be done. There was little talk heard about the making the burned steamer
over into a barge or lighter. Mr.
Murphy said that this was not the intention of the firm he represented, as they were buying her with the sole idea of getting what metal there was out of the hull.

Lads to Demonstration By Egyptian Students.

Cairo, March 29.—Last evening 200 students from the University of Egypt made a demonstration in front of the Egyptian hotel, where Col. Roosevelt is stopping. The students carried an Egyptian flag and as they passed past the hotel they shouted "Long live the constitution and the liberty of Egypt."

The shouting was interspersed with hand-clapping. Mr. Roosevelt was in his room at the time but paid no attention to the students. The latter were orderly and after giving expression to their sentiments, dispersed.

The demonstration was brought about by the pro-British expressions made by Mr. Roosevelt in his speech at the university Monday.

Earlier in the day Mr. Roosevelt visited the bazaar and this afternoon he had tea at the German embassy, where he met Prince Elhel Freierich. Last evening Col. Roosevelt gave tea at the Shepherd's hotel to the newspaper correspondents.

London, March 30.—Former President Roosevelt's address before the students of the University of Egypt yesterday has attracted considerable comment here where there is a difference of opinion as to the good or evil effects of his plain talking.

In denouncing the assassination of the late Premier Boutros Pasha Ghali Col. Roosevelt did not misquote his words with a view to averting offense to the Nationalists, many of whom have openly sympathized with the assassin.

The radical press here takes exception to the American's remarks, and even the moderate Westminster Gazette says editorially: "Disquisitions upon the readiness or the reverse of Egypt for self-government while permitted to men without great position are, perhaps, better hushed in the breasts of ex-presidents."

Reading Mr. Gladstone's pronouncement with regard to the early independence of the present Lord Salisbury—"Mistakes which are pardonable in a private individual become scandalous in an ex-solicitor-general"—the Gazette recognizes Mr. Roosevelt's desire to be friendly and helpful to Great Britain, but says that his pronouncement is not calculated to make easier the path of the government in Egypt.

WOULD CRIPPLE HOUSE OF LORDS

London, March 30.—The House of Commons moved up into closer range with the House of Lords Tuesday and a profoundly significant stage of the fight between the two houses was commenced. The lower chamber held an excited crowd when Premier Asquith rose to move that the popular body go into committee of the whole to consider the Government's resolutions looking to the abolition of the veto power of the Lords of which the premier gave notice on March 21.

Briefly stated Mr. Asquith's three resolutions provided: That the Lords shall have no part in financial legislation.

That their power over other legislation shall consist only in compelling deliberation, but not beyond the life of a single Parliament.

And that the term of Parliament shall be limited to five years instead of seven years as at present.

Mr. Asquith traced the course of events culminating with the Lords' interference with the budget measure the last Parliament, and declared that the subsequent general elections had given the House of Commons express authority to bring that state of things to an end. There was both room and need for a second chamber he said, but of such a body the present House of Lords was only a travesty and caricature.

These resolutions constitute, in the opinion of experienced leaders on both sides, a more extreme measure than Premier Asquith's attitude since the opening of Parliament had led casual observers to believe the Government would bring forward. By a comprehensive extension of the meaning of the term "a money bill" the House of Lords is to be disabled according to those resolutions, from rejecting, or even amending, any bill containing any provisions dealing with any matters incidental to taxation, provision of money by Parliament in supply, control, regulation or disposition of public funds or concerning any public loan. By this definition it is left to the Speaker of the House of Commons to decide whether any bill does contain any such clause, and thus, for the first time, the Speaker is placed in the position of being the sole arbiter on a point involving violent political prejudices. Regarding bills other than money bills, Premier Asquith's resolution explicitly omits any provision for the establishment of an amicable agreement between the upper and lower houses, in case the former reject a bill or amend it in a way which does not meet with the approval of the House of Commons. The right of the House of Lords to amend a bill is virtually taken away and the spirit of the resolutions is to reduce the House of Lords to a body devoid of any effective check upon legislation. In brief, Premier Asquith's resolutions are all that the extreme Radicals could desire.

FRANKLIN MILLS TIED UP BY STRIKE

Franklin, N. H., March 30.—Considerable surprise was caused at the mills of the International paper company Tuesday when several of the regular machine tenders of the day shift did not appear at their places at the time the men of the second shift took work.

Two of the paper making machines in mill D were forced to stop running for a short while, but were finally started again when the foreman of the mill induced the night men to return and finish the stock that was in the machines.

At a meeting Sunday the machine tenders refused by vote to join the strike of the pulp mill workers now in progress. It was thought that there would be no further strike here, but it is understood that a number of the machine tenders talked the situation over during the night and early Tuesday and some men decided not to go back to work in the mills. No reason was given for this action, but it was stated that the men are dissatisfied with the strikebreakers who take the places of the helpers. The machine tenders are all skilled laborers.

When the night men finished the stock in the machines on Tuesday paper mill B and a pulp mill were shut down. Three mills in Franklin are closed, but two pulp mills and a paper mill were running Tuesday afternoon. It is possible that they will be closed also, as there is more or less unrest among the employees, but some of whom object to working with strikebreakers.

ate. In view of frequent declarations that he would not take this course and would stand or fall by the decision of his colleagues, his action came as a thunder clap.

His resignation, filed with the secretary of state, reads:

"Hon. Horace White, Lieutenant-Governor of the State of New York and President of the Senate:

"Dear Sir: I Jotham P. Allds, do hereby resign the office of senator representing the 37th senatorial district of the State of New York, which I now hold.

About the same time Senator Conger also signed for his money. It was understood that as soon as the Senate passed its verdict, sustaining his charges, Conger also would resign.

Allds' resignation was read when the Senate reconvened at 11 o'clock, after a short recess following a brief business session.

President (pro tem) Cobb then moved that the Senate resolve itself into a committee of the whole to act in the Allds case. Senator Brackett, however, suggested that a short recess be taken.

Brackett's motion prevailed by a vote of 28 to 21, and at 11:20 a recess was taken until 12:15 p. m. This action developed an extraordinary situation. Its significance became apparent when it became known that a movement was on foot to adopt a compromise resolution declaring that the Conger charges had not been sustained, but that nevertheless enough evidence had been adduced to warrant Allds' resignation.

When the Senate reconvened Senator Conger offered a resolution that a committee of five senators to be appointed to investigate the conduct of Senator Conger, these senators to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and prepare and present charges against Conger. Senator Hinman declared that the resolution must stand over until Wednesday and that the Senate should first act upon the Allds case.

The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee with the understanding that the committee consider it today.

On motion of Senator Cobb the Senate then resolved itself into the committee of the whole with Senator Davis in the chair to take up the charges against Allds.

Senator Cobb offered a resolution that the charge filed by Conger against Allds had been sustained, and the committee so report to the Senate.

Chairman Davis put the resolution to a vote and the roll call was ordered.

The charges were sustained by a vote of 40 to 9.

The committee of the whole immediately reported its decision to the Senate. The report was adopted and the sustaining of the charges ratified by a vote of 38 to 8, some of the senators having left the chamber.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held this evening. The appropriation bill will be considered and it is understood that a number of amendments will be offered.

Side Lights On Capital Notables

A STORY is going the rounds in Washington that is creating considerable laughter. It is said that a Kentucky congressman who had been suffering greatly with his eyes finally went to a Washington specialist.

"Great Scott, man," exclaimed the specialist after an examination, "you're threatened with blindness. Do you drink much?"

"Well, no; only about a quart or two a day," admitted the man from the Blue Grass State as he pulled forth a flask there and then as if the query had reminded him that he was thirsty.

"Well, you'll have to stop that, sir! You can take your choice. It's either whisky and blindness or fairly good eyesight after I get through treating you. Now, what's it to be?"

"Well, I do," he drawled with a sigh as he reached for his flask again. "I'm a pretty old man, and I guess I've seen about everything worth seeing."

One of the heaviest members of congress is Ollie M. James, and recently while attending committee meetings he has had to struggle to get his great bulk within the confines of a mahogany chair constructed for an ordinary man.

Senator Knute Nelson has a keen sense of humor. Any one can tell that by looking at his sparkling eyes. When the committee filed into the hearing room the other day the same uncomfortable chair was at Mr. James' place at the table. Ollie looked reproachfully at the chairman. A moment later two husky porters struggled into the room in full view of the spectators with the biggest lounging chair to be found in the building and substituted it for the little mahogany affair.

"Humph!" ejaculated Mr. James, with a scowl, after the laugh had died down. "I may be a heavyweight, but I'm dinged if I'm such a human rack horse that special furniture has got to be made for me."

At a banquet in Washington recently Senator Depew told a story on himself that is worth repeating.

"When I was a very young man," he said, "I went out to make a political speech with some older men one night. They wanted something red hot, and I handed it out."

"I just thinned myself to skin the opposition and, on the whole, the audience seemed to like it. The more they cheered the more I warmed up to it. I was immensely pleased with my success."

"But after I got home I was worried. I had raised the other side awfully. I lay awake wondering if it wouldn't react and injure our side more than the opposition. Then I thought of some personal allusions I had made that might easily be construed as 'belious.' I got a good deal excited and slept very little. In the morning I hurried down to see whether the papers had wasted me."

"The meeting was reported all over the front page. I plunged into it, shivering in nervousness. But I didn't have worried. What I said about my speech was in the last two lines."

"A young man named Depew also spoke."

Captain Archibald Butt, military aid of the president, is a great lover of dogs and owns a good many, but he is thinking of auctioning them off before long. In addition to being the president's aid, he is Mrs. Taft's official escort. In the old days any old suit of clothes was good enough except on state occasions. Now he is wearing out uniforms faster than his tailor.

Professor Percival Lowell, the famous astronomer, once told an amusing story of an old woman he met at one time had as housekeeper, to whom he made a sporting offer.

"Janet," he said to her one day, "the very next planet I discover I will make you a present of $5."

"You are very kind, sir," she replied. "And I am sure I hope you will soon discover one."

Several months went by, and no planets were discovered.

"The fact of the matter is, ma'am," confided the old woman at last to Mrs. Lowell, "I do think the professor goes out at night and discovers planets on the sly."

THEIR FRIENDS.

Stetson's Advice as to Where They Might Possibly Be Found.

John Stetson used to have a raucous little house in Philadelphia, and he inaugurated there the custom which prevails now in some of the cheaper theaters of taking a performer off in the middle of the turn if he did not please the patrons in front. Every Monday night opened his house with fifteen acts, and as each one went on he stood in the wings and allowed those in front to decide whether it should be retained on the bill.

Sometimes the people in front would cry, "Take him off, John; he's no good," and Stetson would march out of the stage and drag the performer off, give him $10 for his performance and tell him he need not return. One evening there were two men who seemed especially obnoxious to the audience, who greeted them with cat-calls and howling derision. They managed, however, to get through with their song and came off the stage nervously preparing to return for the remainder of their act.

"Here, you," shouted John Stetson, "what was the name of that song?"

"What's that to you?" asked one of the singers.

"It may be something to you," answered Stetson, "with a few of the words for which he was noted. In John Stetson, and I want to know the name of that song."

"Pard, pardon, Mr. Stetson," said the erstwhile variety man. "It is called 'Where Are the Friends of Our Youth?'"

"Well, you didn't seem to find them out in front. Take this $10 and go and hunt them on the outside."

Show Your Talents. Exert your talents and distinguish yourself, and don't think of retiring from the world until the world will be sorry that you're gone. I hate a fellow who prides on cowardice or laziness drives into a corner and who does nothing when he is there, but sit and growl. Let him come out, as I do, and bark—Samuel Johnson.

A Suggestive Bark. The man who ruined a sausage maker's trade by walking into his shop with a sackful of dead cats and dumping the contents down on the counter now finds a rival—albeit an unintentional one—in the person of a London waiter. The latter, worthy, being asked by a customer for sausages, replied that there were none left, but being of an obliging disposition, he went on to say that if the gentleman did not mind waiting for a few minutes, some should be obtained for him, meaning:

LEAVE HIM OFF.

FLUNG WILDLY INTO THE STREET. Of course, that they should be sent out for. The customer having scolded his willingness to wait, the waiter proceeded to the culinary department to give the necessary instructions, but on arriving there, he had the misfortune to step on the tail of a dog which belonged to one of the kitchen attendants. The injured animal immediately let out a series of agonized yelps, whereupon the customer, being evidently a man of imaginative mind, turned pale, hesitated only a second and then, grabbing his coat and hat, fled wildly into the street.

Know What Would Happen. A famous corporation lawyer was telling some anecdotes of criminal law: "One case in my native Lybelsburg," he said, "implicated a planter of sinister repute. The planter's chief attorney was a servant named Calhoun White. The prosecution believed that Calhoun White knew much about his master's shady side. It also believed that Calhoun, in his misplaced affection, would lie in his master's behalf."

"When, on the stand, Calhoun was ready for cross examination, the prosecuting counsel said to him sternly: 'Now, Calhoun, I want you to understand the importance of telling the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth in this case.'"

"Yes, sah," said Calhoun.

"You know what will happen, I suppose, if you don't tell the truth?"

"Yes, sah," said Calhoun promptly. "Our side 'll win de case."

On the Sly. Professor Percival Lowell, the famous astronomer, once told an amusing story of an old woman he met at one time had as housekeeper, to whom he made a sporting offer.

"Janet," he said to her one day, "the very next planet I discover I will make you a present of $5."

"You are very kind, sir," she replied. "And I am sure I hope you will soon discover one."

Several months went by, and no planets were discovered.

"The fact of the matter is, ma'am," confided the old woman at last to Mrs. Lowell, "I do think the professor goes out at night and discovers planets on the sly."

can make them, for it is the Taft decree that military aids shall look the part. It was recently rumored in Washington that he was to give a dinner to some celebrities, and when asked about it he gasped:

"Well, I have seven full grown dogs to support, and all my dinner money is spent on them."

RAILROAD NOTES

Section men all along the line of the Boston and Maine system have been instructed to keep a close watch for grass fires.

John O'Brien, for the past year or more day watchman at the depot, has resigned to accept a position in a local automobile garage.

Several of the local employees of the Boston and Maine railroad are to attend the big union meeting of railroad employees to be held at Worcester on April 2, 3 and 4. President Taft will be a guest of the men. Others who will be present will be Governor Draper, the mayor of Worcester and representatives of the three trunk lines.

Charles Mathes, a former resident of this city and at one time a baggage master on the Portsmouth and Dover branch, was in charge of the baggage car of train No. 44 that was wrecked at West Lynn on Monday. He escaped very lucky, coming out with only scratches on the face and a cut on the left hand.

Fred Piper, night watchman at the depot, is enjoying a vacation from his duties.

The Bennett and Moulton company will present Faust at Music Hall this evening.

THE FIRE COMPANY OFFICERS

For the first time in many years the board of engineers of the fire department will on Friday night, appoint the captain, lieutenants and clerks of the several companies of the department and this idea in behalf of the engineers has caused quite a stir among those who make up the roster of the fire fighting brigade of the city.

While a good many of the men believe that this action of the board will lead to better discipline and more efficiency on the part of the men, others look at it in a different light and feel that the taking away of this privilege will not result in any better harmony among the respective companies.

It is understood that the board figures the selections made by the engineers will be more satisfactory, as far as the captains are concerned and that he will then feel no obligation to his crew for the place he holds in the company.

The only places which the companies will fill directly will be that of steward and pipemen.

Rumors in fire circles have it that this latest move by the engineers in appointing the leading officers of the companies was brought about by some friction among the crew of one of the steamers who had some disagreement which developed to a certain degree of heat when the board stepped in and took a hand.

NEW TUGBOAT ON THE RIVER

The tugboat Marie has been purchased by Captain Henry W. Anderson of Exeter for use on the Piscataqua river and adjacent waters.

She was bought from Splane Brothers of Boston. She was built at Kennebunkport in 1894 for Capt. Henry A. Marden of Kittery Point, and was intended for the passenger business between Kittery Point and Portsmouth.

During the most of her existence she has been used for towing about Boston harbor, in command of Captain John Davis of New Castle.

She is of 42 tons.

It is understood that the Marie will do the greater part of the towing to and from her new owners coal pocket wharves at Exeter.
